Protest Against Bev's Ticket.

A protest was filed last Saturday afternoon with the Deputy State Supervisors of Elections in Xenia against the ticket nominated at the recent primary election being placed on the ballot for the regular election November 7.

The protest was drawn up and signed by a number of persons that happened to be in Xenia at that time. It set forth the reasons the ticket should not be recognized.

The board on Thursday heard the evidence, there being some twenty eight persons notified to appear. However all did not appear. The board passed a motion that the evidence would be taken behind closed doors each side being allowed one representative but not to act as an attorney. T. B. Andrew represented the ticket as nominated and M. R. Snodgrass the protestors. During the afternoon L. G. Bull took the latter's place.

The following persons were called for the protestors: Geo. F. Siegler, W. H. Owens, L. H. Sullenberger, H. McCarty, J. S. Brown, L. G. Bull, R. F. Kerr, J. H. Wolford, W. W. Northup, Karl Bull. Affidavits were also read from Lee Shroades, J. Stewart Townsley, W. Ballard and Dan. Johnson.

The testimony covered a number of points from the most part the trouble were a number of voters were thrown out of the polls. Others testified that T. B. Andrew as judge made no attempt to put their ballots in the box and stated clearly just what he did with them. There were four or five that gave some very damaging testimony that will hereafter have a tendency for most voters questioning Mr. Andrew's honesty about handling ballots at an election.

The primary only had one clerk and one poll book and two are required. The township and corporation primary must be held separately and this was not done. The call stated that the polls would open at 10 o'clock and close at 7 o'clock. Most all of the testimony was to the effect that the polls closed long before this time. It was not even denied by Mr. Andrew or any of his witnesses.

A voter must be challenged before being denied the right to vote and this was not done.

The protestors finished their side of the case about three o'clock and shortly after four the others had finished. The testimony on this side was to the effect that when each of the witnesses were about the polls everything was all right. Mr. Andrew as judge of the primary was the principle witness. Some of the other witnesses were J. C. Grindle, Mayor McFarland, S. C. Wright, J. H. Andrew, Andrew Jackson, G. Y. Winter, J. C. Barber.

The board has not as yet given any decision in the case.

SENT TO THE WORKS,

"Rom" Murry, was taken in Saturday night on a charge of drunkenness and was fined and sent to the works Monday by Mayor McFarland. "Rom" had become intoxicated and upon going home started in to break up the furniture and furnishings. He wanted more money and his mother gave him fifty cents to leave the house. More evidence that the open saloon is needed. Its bad enough under control but what would it be with out restrictions. You can answer on Saturday Nov. 11th.

THINKS WELL OF MEADOW BROOK.

It will be recalled that the Herald gave an account about one year ago of the Ohio Farmer representatives being here to inspect Meadow Brook Farm and the famous herd of cattle. The Ohio Farmer in a recent issue pays Messrs. D. Bradfute & Son many glowing compliments in the write up. Editionally Dr. Chamberlain has the following to say:

"We delight to print and call special attention to articles like the illustrated one on our first page this week. That article gives a fine example of 'straight farming,' managed on business principles. The planter shows in the engravings, and which with its live stock and equipments must represent a value of a good deal more than $100,000, is not the new fad or diversion of some city man who has got rich quick by speculating in stocks, by trusts or combinations, by selling fourteen cents' worth of cheap whisky and three cents' worth of drugs for one dollar per bottle as a patent medicine—or even by more creditable means, and has spent a large part of this easily-gotten money in extravagant frame buildings and equipments and in pedigreed animals in charge of a hired expert and of which he himself really knows about as little as he does of Choctaw or Hebrew. No, every dollar on this fine stock farm, one of the finest, really in the world, in its herd and its useful equipment, has been earned in and by 'straight farming,' for eighty years, by father, son and grandson, each one of whom was a competent specialist and a real enthusiast in the breeding and care of the finest blooded live stock.

We like to hold up such examples by way of incentive to the sons of successful breeders or specialists in any line of agriculture or horticulture, to share the business of their fathers by partnership, possess it by inheritance, and hand it on to their sons and their sons' sons. It is a worthy ambition. Here, for example, is the junior member of the present firm of D. Bradfute & Son. When he graduated with distinction from the university, several callings were open to his choice—the law, the ministry, business, politics or 'to bury himself' and sink his university training on the farm. He chose the latter. His inherited graces of person, his trained powers of close, connected thinking and his ready command of the choicest English, fitted him to shine in any of the other callings mentioned—or in any calling. Have these inherited and acquired graces and powers proved useless in the calling he chose, as is sometimes supposed? Did he 'bury himself on the farm'? Today he is probably better and more widely known to the leaders of thought and of important business interests, than he would have been in any of the other callings. His services are eagerly sought as lecturer in the agricultural colleges of our great universities and at state and national agricultural conventions, and as writer for our best agricultural and live stock journals. He has lately been named for the next Ohio state senate by the minority party in his district and is enthusiastically backed by many of the best men in all parties, who promise his election. If elected he will be, as he is always and everywhere, a leader in and for all best things, far above mediocrity, as far above all possible corruption.

Many scores of the brightest sons of our best farmers and breeders in Ohio and in all states of the Union, and in other lands wherever The Ohio Farmer is read, may, in our opinion, wisely follow the example of the junior member of the firm of D. Bradfute & Son."

SABBATH SCHOOL CONFERENCE.

Monday morning, afternoon and evening the State Sabbath School work held session in the U. P. church. They are making a tour through many counties in the state this fall and aim to visit every township in the county into which they enter. The Green county visitation will be completed with sessions to day and this evening in Xenia.

There are four in this tour party and together seem to be familiar with the work they represent and know all about methods and needs. The fact was often emphasized during the sessions that the Sabbath school as an arm of the church is the greatest evangelizing agency to day, statistics showing that over eighty per cent of the membership of the church are being brought in through the Sabbath school. On this fact the appeal for the greater efficiency of the school is based. In the morning Rev. H. A. Dowling gave a Bible study, touching a vital point when he said, "We aim to emphasize the study of the Bible in all this work." Following him Rev. Ellen R. King on "Teacher Training." She emphasized the need that exists for more efficient teachers for handling the Word of God in the Sabbath school. That better teachers may be had, the State Association has encouraged and made provision for teachers training classes being established in townships and congregations. Courses of study are outlined for this work.

In the afternoon Rev. Dowling gave an address on "Organization The Basis of Effective Work," pleading that there was none too much organization. There be the power there ought to be to run it. Miss Mast spoke on "Practical Primary Plans." She called attention to the different classes that are now recognized in the primary department in Sabbath school work. (1) the grade roll (2) first primary, (3) second primary. The importance of dwelling with the young child in Sabbath school work was dwelt upon. In the evening Ellen R. King and Miss Mast each gave an address. The day sessions were not characterized by large audience but the evening was much better in this respect and there is no doubt but that the visitors left behind them timely and suggestive ideas for sabbath school work.

We have been besieged by inquiries how to vote a mixed ticket. The following information will make it clear enough so that no person need fear losing his ticket by voting independently.

THE SAFEST WAY.

First—Do not put a cross mark at the head of the ticket, but place your cross mark before the name of every candidate for whom you desire to vote. This is the surest way to vote a mixed ticket.

DEMOCRAT "WETS" FOR HERRICK.

John Koerber is one of the most prominent liquor men of Ohio. He has been president of the Ohio Liquor League, is a brewer and owns a number of saloons in Akron. He has always been a Democrat and is a member of the Summit county Democrat executive committee.

Interests Lie With Herrick.

At the meeting of the committee Oct. 11th, Mr. Koerber said:

"I want to be frank with the members of this committee. Since the Fleischmann letter has been made public and in view of the utterances of John M. Patterson on the stump, I do not feel that any liquor man ought to support the Democratic ticket this year, but it is the business of the liquor dealers to support Governor Herrick, who is friendly to our interests. I desire to announce that I am a supporter of Governor Herrick, as my business interests suggest, and if this committee desires my resignation it will be forthcoming any time it is desired."

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE INFORMED.

It is openly stated in Akron by the liquor men who are members of the state organization, that the Republican state committee knows just what is being done and that an alliance between the organized liquor dealers and the Republican state managers is a fact.

Liquor men here declare it is a straight fight between the saloon element, represented by Governor Herrick and the church element, represented by John M. Patterson. They say the issue has to be met some time and think this is the best year.

If Governor Herrick wins they say they will get the credit, will have the liquor laws framed up to suit them, and let them remain that way, for they argue, they will have shown the temperance interests of the state that they can't win in Ohio and will have to take just what the liquor interests are pleased to give them.

At the same time that all this is going on, Mr. Herrick and his stumpers will continue trying to persuade temperance voters that what he did to the Brannock bill was in the interest of temperance. While the liquor interests are solidified for him, it is argued that the temperance and church vote will be divided.

WHAT OTHERS THINK.

The many good words we have heard the past week for our stand on a question that vitally affects the community, politics, has only made us firmer in the belief that the people are with us in deposing the "gang" that is eating the very heart of our village and county government. One day will not accomplish this work nor will one year, but a continued fight will eventually win. Right will always triumph over might, even though the time may seem long.

We give below what one of the wealthiest and best known citizens of the county thinks of the situation: "Christ went among thieves but he was not at any time in more danger than an honest citizen trying to vote at a primary in Cedarville."

The above were written on a postal card and mailed to the Herald is one of the few honest men that has to meet with Ed. Schmidt's committee, but what can one or two honest men do in a body with fifteen or twenty "dummies."

More "Politics" In The Church.

While the state was discussing what Secretary of War, W. H. Taft, had to say concerning George B. Cox, the Boss of saloon-controlled Cincinnati in that he would refuse to vote, the city republican ticket in Cincinnati, the people of this vicinity were busy telling of the grand and good sermon that had been delivered by Rev. Van Pelt of Offord in the M. E. church the night previous, Sabbath.

The building was filled to the doors, extra chairs being placed in the aisles to accommodate the crowd. On the rostrum were the following ministers besides the speaker: Dr. H. C. Middleton, Rev. A. B. Henry Rev. W. J. Sanderson, Rev. W. R. McChesney, Rev. Montröse Maxwell of Birmingham, Mich., and Rev. Thomas Turner, of Idaville, Ind.

The theme of Rev. Van Pelt's sermon was "Visions of Youth" and for nearly an hour he had the strictest attention of the audience. His sermon was one long to be remembered by all who heard him.

The part of his sermon referring to the present political situation and as to how the church and its members were being damned and jeered for taking part in a moral warfare, brought forth bursts of approval from his hearers.

Every statement was strong and was driven to the point. His description of the "little fellows," the weaklings, the men that are so narrow and bigoted as to be led by the "Boss" certainly portrayed a picture just as it exists in not only this corporation, but in the county and state as well.

The "weaklings" that steal the elections and shout "We win" were likened unto Paul and Nero and Christ and his persecutors. But what is the judgement of to-day as to who won?

The statement that men should be great enough to vote for the man that stood for moral principles regardless of party politics was the master stroke of the address and was well received.

The sermon was one that will have great influence on the voters in the present campaign.

THE LIVER QUARANTINE

"EATING HIS MEATS OUT."

Hurried eating has ruined many a man's stomach. The digestion-destriving process is gradual, often unnoticed at first. But it is only a short time until the liver balks, the digestive organs give way, and almost countless ills assail the man who endeavors to economize time at the expense of his health.

A torpid liver causes a quarantine of the entire system. It locks in the diseased germs and body poisons and affords them full play, inviting some serious illness.

In families where August Flower is used, a sluggish liver and constipation are unknown, so are all stomach ailments, as well as indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, headaches and kidney and bladder affections. No well-regulated family should be without this standard remedy.

I desire to call the attention of others suffering as I did to this remarkable remedy for the heart. For a long time I had suffered from shortness of breath after any little exertion, palpitation of the heart, and at times terrible pain in the region of the heart, so serious that I feared that it would some time drop dead upon the street. One day I read one of your circulars, and immediately went to my druggist and purchased two bottles of the Heart Cure, and took it according to directions, with the result that I am entirely cured. Since then I never miss an opportunity to recommend this remedy to my friends who have heart trouble in fact I am a traveling advertisement for it, and widely known in this locality."

KARLH BULL - Editor.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1905.

"More politics in the church" was the cry Monday by the "gang" whenever mention was made of Rev. Van Pelt's great sermon Sabbath night in the M. E. church.

Rev. Van Pelt, at the M. E. church Sabbath night made some of the politicians feel like "little fellows" "weaklings," etc. The fellows that steal a primary and then shout "We Win."

What did Rev. Van Pelt say about those who sneer at the church and its members for taking a stand against immoral issues that are backed by political parties? You will probably find the answer in the Andrew-Ridgway-Jackson organ, the Record.

The people seem to like "politics in the church" judging from the immense audience that heard Rev. Van Pelt. The M. E. church will now come in for jeers and sneers from the Record as did the U. P. congregation after Dr. Moore gave his address.

A voter stated a day or two ago that a politician approached him as how he was going to vote for Governor. He politely told him that although he always voted for the Republican ticket he would vote for Patterson this fall. The voter was told that he was not a Republican and then he was certain that Herrick would not get his vote.

The Xenia Gazette makes a great out at covering up what Secretary Taft had to say about "bolting" his home ticket. Taft will not worry much about the Gazette's opinion. Taft denounces Cox, and such men as "Boss" Schmidt and the Andrew-Ridgway-Jackson ring, while the Gazette represents this class. One is for the people, the other for politicians.

As is the custom the Republican politicians poll the precincts in the state to get some idea as to how the voters stand. It is reported that one committeeman in the county polled his precinct and found that about three-fourths of the voters were against Herrick on account of his stand on the temperance laws, the canal steal and the agricultural appropriations. The committeeman in discussing the situation with some of his close friends concluded that it would not do to send such a report to state headquarters and they decided to send in the same poll as was taken last year.

It will be sometime before the Republican state machine sends for Taft to support a Cox ticket. It must also be remembered that Senator Foraker took "sick" and has been unable to help Herrick. The Senator probably hasn't forgot the treatment he received at the National convention and at the Ohio State Republican convention. Peculiar isn't it that so many Republicans are being placed as "Democrats" this year.

Shall it be Cox, George B. Cox, the owner of saloon-controlled Cincinnati, or the Republican party that shall say who is to be a candidate for Governor? W. H. Taft, secretary of War under President

Roosevelt, says that Republicans "should rule" in his speech at Akron last Saturday. He said more than that too. He told the audience that he would vote against the ticket nominated by the Republican convention in his home city Cincinnati. Why did he make such a statement? Because he represented broad Republican principles in that one man cannot nominate a ticket representing a whole party.

What would Taft have said should he have known of the kind of a primary the voters of Cedarville had? What would he have said concerning the manner Charles H. Kyle secured the nomination for Common Pleas Judge? Such things as these are what William Howard Taft strongly condemned, regardless of the fact that he has been mentioned as Roosevelt's successor. In the face of the strongest "machine" in the world, this great Taft would "bolt" his party ticket for municipal affairs. The Herald is not alone when it comes to denouncing wrong in the Republican party. The "gangsters" content themselves and ease their minds by listing the Herald as "Democratic." That's what we heard a Republican, but a "gangster" say Monday about Secretary Taft. The Herald has no objections to being classed with Taft, who came to Ohio with Roosevelt's views as to the situation. It will be remembered that the "machine" politicians of New York tried to bury Roosevelt for his liberal ideas along party lines.

THE PERIL TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Hon. Julius Fleischmann is mayor of Cincinnati-Coxopolis. He is the official head and front of the Cox machine of Hamilton county. HE IS THE MAN COX PICKED FOR MAYOR.

COX ELECTED HIM. Mr. Fleischmann is the head of the Fleischmann Company, "Distillers, Redistillers and Blenders," according to their letterhead. It is perhaps the largest distilling company in Ohio.

Hon. Julius Fleischmann is a leading member of the Republican State Committee. He was the chairman of the Republican Convention in Cincinnati week before last. He has been a member of the Governor's staff and a delegate of the State Convention time and again.

Mayor Fleischmann is a close personal friend of the Governor's. The Governor is frequently entertained at his home when he goes to Cincinnati. On the famous St. Louis Exposition trip, he was one of the Governor's chosen companions.

This gentleman, Hon. Julius Fleischmann, head of the Fleischmann Company, official head of Cincinnati and Hamilton County and creation of George B. Cox, who settled the nomination of Herrick-Hon. Julius Fleischmann, leading member of the Republican State Central Committee—thus, by his treasurer, his agent, tells the liquor traffic to get into line for Governor Herrick, so that the liquor-traffic may have a claim on the Republican party.

Mayor Fleischmann is a close personal friend of the Governor's. The Governor is frequently entertained at his home when he goes to Cincinnati. On the famous St. Louis Exposition trip, he was one of the Governor's chosen companions.

Temperance voters of Ohio, do you suppose that, since the combined liquor trade of Ohio will vote for Herrick, the traffic will not claim its reward at his hands, as this high official says it will? Are you so blind as not to see that it will foreclose the mortgage it will thus locate upon Herrick? The only thing that will save the Republican party from the damning burden of this mortgage and the ruin of its foreclosure will be the defeat of Herrick.

His defeat will serve final notice on the liquor element that the temperance element of the party intends to remain in control—that they will not abdicate this control at the dictation of the Cox-Fleischmann-Herrick liquor combination of Hamilton county. To defeat Herrick looks now to us the only way to save the party for future usefulness.

For the liquor element to elect Herrick will be one of those victories more ruinous to the Republican party than a dozen defeats.

Who can have any doubt that Mr. Herrick is a party to all this back-stairs dealing with the liquor traffic, even while he is posing before Ohio as a "temperance" Governor? It is precisely the same line of conduct that he was engaged in before his election, when he made the bargain in Cleveland with Joe Miller and the Ohio Brewers that in return for their support he would veto all temperance legislation.

That he did not keep his threat was because he dared not. He tried to get General Dick to consent to it, but Dick notified him that a local option bill of some sort must be passed. Herrick was compelled to turn the liquor people down somewhat, but he did the best he could to keep his bargain.

THERE IS MORE DIGGERING OF THE SAME SORT NOW BEHIND THIS FLEISCHMANN LETTER BUSINESS—DEPEND UPON IT.

Temperance voters of Ohio, will you for the sake of party walk into this open trap? We have torn the covering off and shown it to you. God help the Republican party of Ohio if it allows itself to be tied up with this last liquor arrangement!

The temperance Republicans of Ohio who yet cling to the notion that Governor Herrick is a "temperance" man, and who intend on this account to vote for him, now have notice served on them by the liquor interest that every vote for Herrick is a vote to surrender the party, with the Cox-Fleischmann-Herrick liquor combine at its head, to liquor control-American Issue.

Roosevelt, says that Republicans "should rule" in his speech at Akron last Saturday. He said more than that too. He told the audience that he would vote against the ticket nominated by the Republican convention in his home city Cincinnati. Why did he make such a statement? Because he represented broad Republican principles in that one man cannot nominate a ticket representing a whole party.

What would Taft have said should he have known of the kind of a primary the voters of Cedarville had? What would he have said concerning the manner Charles H. Kyle secured the nomination for Common Pleas Judge? Such things as these are what William Howard Taft strongly condemned, regardless of the fact that he has been mentioned as Roosevelt's successor. In the face of the strongest "machine" in the world, this great Taft would "bolt" his party ticket for municipal affairs. The Herald is not alone when it comes to denouncing wrong in the Republican party. The "gangsters" content themselves and ease their minds by listing the Herald as "Democratic." That's what we heard a Republican, but a "gangster" say Monday about Secretary Taft. The Herald has no objections to being classed with Taft, who came to Ohio with Roosevelt's views as to the situation. It will be remembered that the "machine" politicians of New York tried to bury Roosevelt for his liberal ideas along party lines.
